

Meet Expedition Plastic in Danish Waters

DID YOU KNOW that the North Sea, Skagerrak, and Baltic Sea are saturated with (tiny) plastic particles? Where do they come from? What are the effects? What can we do about it? Come and find out at the UN City Copenhagen.

Plastic Change and By the Ocean we Unite are joining forces with UN and Greenpeace, Holland, to bring to you an inspiring cross-border event. Listen to the firsthand stories on sea by Roos Swart, research coordinator of Dutch 'By the Ocean we Unite' and Henrik Beha Pedersen, founder of Danish NGO 'Plastic Change'.

Find out what we along with Greenpeace and the UN undertake to reduce plastic pollution. In an exciting and interactive collaboration, we will update you on the situation with plastic pollution and provide you with the tools to reduce your plastic footprint. Following the event at UN City, the By the Ocean we Unite-crew welcomes you on board their research sailing expedition vessel Fantastiko for a tour.

Please let us know when registering for the event whether you want to visit the ship due to limited seats. The visiting time: 03.45-05.00PM. The Fantastiko will be moored in Nordhavn Harbour, right outside the UN City Copenhagen.

BEST REGARDS

Plastic Change &
By the Ocean we Unite

TIME Monday August 13th, 2-3.30 PM

VENUE UN City, aud 2, Marmorvej 51, 2100 København

REGISTRATION Send name, surname and e-mail address, organization (obligatory) (optional) to Marjun Fuglør: mfu@plasticchange.org
Please send a note if you want to visit Fantastiko!

BY THE OCEAN
WE UNITE

plastic change

Expedition Denmark 2018

sailing the plastic soup: research, awareness and action